WOODS

The inspiration of this ceiling lamp as its name indicates, "Woods", is the remaining idea of the Forest. The nature lights and shadows are translated into a composition that deconstructs its natural display getting the closest possible to the reality with contrasting lights, shadows, and forms.

This ceiling lamp is made in solid wood with a finishing that keeps the natural accent of the wood. The lamp comes from the ceiling and takes place into the space with six branches, each one with a different dimension and angle, achieving the closest proximity to its inspiration.

This design gives us different sights from different angles, where the initial idea and inspiration of a forest gets translated into six graphic lines that support the lighting feature of this lamp, a single Led line with an electronic dimmer controlled with wireless technology.

The woods ceiling lamp is easily installed in any space. Due to its forms, composition and technical characteristics can be used in quite different sceneries and adapted to the needs of the user or the different moods that we wish to set in a space.

The first drawings and sketches of this project are from the year 2013. The real scale prototype started in 2015 and the final piece ended in 2016 in Lisbon.
